A Daring Trick.

"One of the most daring tricks I ever came across," said H. F. Farrell, a New York attorney, "was in the case of a man who deliberately impersonated a lawyer's clerk and persuaded a very sick man to sign a will without reading it, and which disposed of his property in direct opposition to his wishes. It was a case of a family dispute, and the old gentleman, who was quite wealthy, had decided to disinherit his eldest son and leave the property to a younger one. Being warned by his doctor that he had only a day or two more to live, he sent instructions to his attorney to draft his will and send it down promptly for signature."

"While the lawyer was preparing the document a representative of the eldest son arrived with a paper, which he said was the will prepared by the sick man's attorney. The will was signed without hesitation and duly witnessed, and when two hours later the lawyer's clerk arrived with the genuine will he was not allowed to enter the house, being warned off the premises by the housekeeper. On his return to the office his employer saw at once that a fraud had been committed, and he hastened to the house to have it set right. In the meantime, however, the sick man had become unconscious, and he died without being able to execute a will after his own wishes. The bargain was upset, but the fraud could never be sufficiently proved to convict the man suspected of concocting it, and he inherited quite a large sum of the money as next of kin."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Still Another Name.

Life would be simplified in some of its aspects if the same thing were always called by the same name. Such is not the case, however, and perhaps it is better so. If there were no mysteries and surprises, the world would be less interesting.

Colonel Philip Lee was passing through South Carolina thirty odd years ago—it was in wartime—when he accosted an old negro with the question: "If any, uncle, are there any Huguenots about here?"

The colored man looked surprised and answered the question by another: "Well, I declare, where be you uns from?"

"From way up in old Kentucky," said Colonel Lee.

"Well, I thought so. Why, in Tennessee they call 'em peanuts, in Georgia they call 'em goobers, in Alabama they call 'em ponders, here in South Carolina we call 'em ground peas, and now you fellows way off dere in Kentucky call 'em huguenots. Well, I do declare!"—Youth's Companion.

Woman Was Made From an Elm Stick. In the Scandinavian myth of the origin of woman, Odin, Vill and Ve, the three sons of Bor, were walking along the seashore, when they found two stumps of wood, one of ash and one of elm. Odin and his brothers were gods, of course, but the sight of the stick caused them to wish that they could carve other gods from the inanimate wood. They forthwith set about the task, with the result that they made a living man out of the ash stick, and a female, being in godlike form, equally as lively as the man, out of the elm billet.—St. Louis Republic.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Human Labor at Great Altitudes. Investigation among the workmen on the Peruvian Central railroad has brought some curious facts to light concerning the capabilities of men to labor in rarefied atmosphere. The line starts at Lima, in latitude 12 degrees, and the highest point reached by the road is at the tunnel of Galeria, which is 15,645 feet above sea level. From deductions made by the investigators, it appears that the men were able to perform a fair "sea level" day's work at any place along the route where the altitude was not greater than 8,000 or 10,000 feet, providing they had gradually worked up to that height from lower levels. At altitudes above 10,000 feet and not more than 12,000 the amount of work performed by each man showed a sudden falling off from one-fourth to one-third, and at from 13,000 to 15,000 feet 100 men could do no more work than 50 would at sea level.—St. Louis Republic.

The World on a Side Wall.

On the wall of one of the big downtown steamship companies' offices is a huge map representing the earth. On this are miniature ships about two inches long, representing in the aggregate the company's fleet. From day to day, according to the average rate of speed of the vessel, the dummy is moved in her course so that any one looking up at the wall can tell exactly where every vessel is, or rather ought to be, at the moment. Of course storms or accidents may vary the actual and supposed position, but when things go right with the vessel the owners are apt to get a cable announcing the arrival of the ship at her port on the same day that, according to the dummy, she ought to have reached it.—New York Mail and Express.

A Conversational Failure.

"Don't you like Professor Thinkins?" asked one girl.
 "Oh, dear, no!" replied the other girl. "He's so fatiguing."
 "He has the reputation of being very brainy."
 "That's just the trouble. When he talks, you have to listen to what he is saying, or you can't reply to his remarks."—New York Recorder.

According to federal law, each state is entitled to a duplicate of the brass tray pound measure which is in possession of the United States government.

THE PULLMAN METHOD.

The recent strike of the employees of the Pullman Palace Car Company at the town of Pullman near Chicago has directed attention to the methods in vogue at that place. The Chicago papers say that the Pullmans are multi-millionaires. The source of their income is such that they make money whether times are good or bad. Dull times may reduce their profits, but they make money all the time. They pay what competition in the labor market compels them to pay, but not a cent more. In Pullman, the town which they have built, rent is not regulated by competition because there is no competition. Instead of a city built by a millionaire for his employees being a blessing it is a curse. The town and every building in it is owned by the Pullmans. They charge the men in their employ all the rent they can pay and they deduct the rent from the wages of the men. No one can live in the town without their consent, as they own all the buildings, and no one can build in the town without their permission, as they own all the land. When men strike against a reduction of wages, or for any cause do not work, they are ordered to leave, and the order is always enforced. It is intimated that if many corporations followed the example of the Pullmans it would be necessary to pass laws prohibiting enterprises such as in Pullman's case have heretofore been heralded as a benefaction.

THE OREGON ELECTION.

An election for Congressmen, State and county officers and Members of the Legislature will be held in Oregon next Monday, June 4th. The Silver State has advice from the State which indicates what the result will be. It says:

"Oregon is flooded with Wall Street boodle and stump orators from New York in the interest of the Republican party. The money is being freely used in the cities in buying up the slump vote. It is thought with this vote and this money the Republicans will carry the State. No party ever before made such great efforts as the Republicans are now making in Oregon. The fight is between the Republicans and the People's party. The Democrats are not in it. The old line Democrats who voted for Cleveland are working for Republican success. The railroads, the banks and all the trusts are aiding the R. C. P. Three hundred thousand dollars have been contributed to the Republican fund, mainly from outside of the State. The People's party has raised a fund of only $3,250 for legitimate expenses. This fund comes direct from the people in small contributions."

VIOLATING THE LABOR CONTRACT LAWS.

The Congress of the United States passed an act prohibiting the importation of contract labor. Five or six years ago an Episcopal Minister, who came from England under contract to preach in a New York church, was held for violating the law. The object in that case was to arouse public indignation against the act as its enforcement interfered with coal and iron operators in Pennsylvania and other States who wanted cheap foreign labor.

No one the Government is violating the provisions of the act by importing labor from Lapland. Yesterday sixteen Lapps arrived in San Francisco on their way to Alaska. They were imported by the Government under contract to teach the Alaskans how to drain and manage reindeer. The Government imported a number of reindeer from Siberia with the object of domesticating them in Alaska. The Lapps understand all the peculiarities and habits of the deer and this knowledge they are expected to impart to the natives of Alaska. As the Lapps do not compete with persons engaged in any industry in the United States it is not probable that proceedings will be instituted against the Government for importing them in direct contravention of a law of the United States.

WET AND DRY PLACES.

The Philadelphia Record has been studying the meteorological reports of the Weather Bureau and gives the result of its observations as follows:

The wettest place in the United States is Neah Bay, Washington, where the average annual rainfall is 123 inches. The driest place in the United States, where regular observations are taken, is Fort Garland, Colorado, where the average annual rainfall is less than six inches. There are, however, localities in Arizona, Nevada and Utah where rain has never been known to fall.

If science can devise some means of equalizing the rainfall, so that the surplus moisture in Oregon and Washington can be conveyed in the clouds to the arid regions of the country and there distributed, it will accomplish something worthy of the close of the nineteenth century.

An American named General John Hewston has been held in London charged with causing the death of Geo. Burton, a musician, by thrusting the point of an umbrella into his left eye. Hewston was from California and General Dimond of the National Guard of that State has requested Secretary Gresham to take necessary measures for his defense.

A REMEDY FOR HARD TIMES

A Correspondent Asks Farmer Some Pointed Questions Which Are Ably Answered.

Will Farmer please answer through the columns of the JOURNAL the following questions: First—Will the defeat of the Wilson bill restore prosperity? Second—How is the true coinage of silver going to benefit the debtors when nearly all obligations have the gold clause inserted? Third—How do the Populists propose to increase the circulating medium to $50 per capita? By answering the foregoing questions you will confer a great favor on an enquiring friend. Yours truly,

ADAM GORSE.

The first question is very easily answered. The defeat of the Wilson bill cannot restore prosperity, for under the present financial conditions Europe gets the benefit of our tariff legislation. If we have a high tariff the manufacturing establishments are enabled to pay larger dividends. The stocks and bonds of these corporations are largely held in Europe and they get the benefit of increased dividends. On the other hand, if we have a low tariff, the European stockholder gets smaller dividends but the European manufacturer makes good this loss to Europe by being able to sell more goods in this market, so in either case Europe gets the benefit of our tariff laws.

The second question is also, easily answered. The free coinage of silver, with a full legal tender quality, will enable the debtor to pay his obligations in silver as well as in gold. It is just as lawful for the Government to legislate in the interests of the people as in the interest of the bondholder. The Government changed the conditions of all money obligations when it destroyed one half of the currency and demonetized silver. The Supreme Court has decided that the Government can stipulate what shall constitute legal tender, and Mr. Hoar, one of the goldbug editors of the New York Tribune, admits that Congress can enact laws that will, in effect, release debtors from their obligations.

The third question is, also, easy of solution. At the present time there are about $1,100,000,000 of gold and silver in the United States available for money. This would be about $15 per capita, the remaining $35 per capita would be made good by the issue of United States legal tender currency and the Populists would see that the bondholders would not be allowed to have the exception clause inserted on its back. If Mr. Gorse desires any more information on the currency question Farmer will furnish it to the best of his ability. FARMER.

Telegraphic Notes.

The Willamette at Portland, Oregon, is 29 feet above low water mark and the lower part of the city is under water.

The conference of the coal operators at Springfield, Illinois, adjourned. It failed to affect a settlement of the mining difficulties.

Coulter City, Washington, has been washed away by the breaking of a dam. Mrs. Keith was drowned and property valued at $150,000 was swept away.

The United States cruiser Columbia run aground near Washington and was seriously damaged. One of her sides was dented below the water line and she has been ordered to League Island for repairs.

The situation at Cripple Creek, Colorado, is unchanged. Heavy rains have interfered with travel. It is thought Governor Waite's mission to the mines to endeavor to effect a compromise will be fruitless.

The United States Court at Denver has refused to grant an injunction to restrain the Miners' Union from interfering with the working of the Raven Gold Mining Company at Cripple Creek, Colorado.

The trouble between white Union grain handlers and colored non-union men in Chicago resulted in the shooting of John Church, a colored contractor, by James McNamara yesterday.

After winning in the neighborhood of $200,000 at poker with the aid of a trick table of his own invention Bert Guyon, an ex-California gambler of many aliases, together with three pals, is now awaiting trial at Chicago on a charge of robbery.

An explosion on the ground floor of a double tenement house in New York City resulted in the death of Lizzie Yaeger, aged four years, and the serious injury of four other children. It appears that there was a distillery in the building where the explosion occurred.

The Arkansas river is flooding Pueblo, Colorado. About five inches of rain fell in that vicinity and washouts and landslides have blocked the railroads. The five roads running to Pueblo are tied up and hundreds of people are homeless. The levees are broken in six places on the Arkansas river.

A week ago Captain J. E. Moody dropped dead of heart disease while ejecting a boisterous stranger from the theater at Los Angeles. Yesterday his widow, Della Moody, was found lying on his grave at Evergreen cemetery with a bullet hole through her heart. Frantic with grief at the death of her husband she committed suicide.

Colonel Fred Ainsworth, Chief of the Records Division of the Pension office, indicted for manslaughter in connection with the Ford's Theater disaster in Washington, which cost a score of clerks their lives, has been discharged. The court ordered the indictment quashed on the ground that it did not show that the collapse of the building was due to the personal neglect of Colonel Ainsworth.

LOVELOCK SCHOOL ELECTION.

A Large Vote and Great Interest Taken in the Result.

EDITOR JOURNAL—The most exciting election contest in the history of this (Lake Township School District, No. 3) came off yesterday. On the one side were Joseph Hill and Robert Welsh, the latter a retiring member of the School Board, and on the other D. D. Grannis and E. Dunlap. The latter withdrew from the contest so the battle was between Welsh and Grannis, Mr. Geo. Lovelock being holdover. No less than 126 votes were cast, of which Welsh received 91 and Grannis 33, a few ballots being spoiled.

It was a grand sight to see the busy ranchers flocking from their fields and their work, to record their votes in the cause of education. Silver has been demonetized, the tariff bill is as good as passed, but this locality is safe. People imbued with such public spirit in so noble a cause will make a country, notwithstanding the greatest disadvantages. What we sadly need here, however, is an independent and enlightened press, such as is capable of leading and instructing the public mind, and thus it is that, in the absence of this much felt want, your distant newspaper finds amongst us so warm a reception. W. LOVELOCK, May 29, 1894.

WHAT CATTLEMEN SAY.

They Think There May Be Trouble With Imported Stock Next Winter.

The San Francisco Call says: George Russell of Elko and J. R. Bradley of Reno, two cattlemen of Nevada, are at the Lick. They are both of the opinion that people of California who are shipping stock into Nevada are taking a big risk, on account of the uncertainty of the winter ranges. New cattle, they say never do well the first winter, but get along all right after they have become acclimated. Both of these gentlemen say they had thought of buying some cattle and shipping them to their ranches in Nevada, but decided not to do so when they observed the large influx from this State. Grass is good now, but they anticipate trouble next winter.

An Indian Run Over.

An Indian known as "Hobo Joe" was run over by No. 4 last night. He had just arrived from the Reservation yesterday afternoon and had been celebrating. He had more of a load on than he could conveniently carry and in endeavoring to catch the outgoing train was struck by the steps falling under the wheels, so that his left leg was caught crushing it between the knee and ankle. He was taken to the hospital.

The Ferris Wheel.

During the Chicago Fair the wheel went round 10,000 times, and carried 2,000,000 passengers. The largest single load was carried October 10th, when, at 12:30 o'clock 1768 people were in the cars. The largest day's business was October 10th, when 38,000 people were carried. October 9th, 10th and 11th there were 114,000 passengers—the largest average for any three days.—Chicago Tribune.

COCOONA CREAM

Is the natural fragrance of flowers and is therefore delightfully refreshing for the toilet and bath. This new and exquisite toilet water is much more agreeable than the artificial perfumes so commonly used and is rapidly supplanting them in public favor. It is for sale by all druggists.

"For Years,"

Says CARLIE E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterfield, N. E. "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ton weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on my face, and it was agony for me to make sufficient effort even to breathe. They came suddenly, at any hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."
